THE MEN WHO BROUGHT THE LICK SCHOOL INTO EXISTENCE

THE first of this series of historical articles regarding the founding of the Lick, Wilmerding and Lux Schools appeared in the issue of December 1922. The five issues from June 1927 to June 1929, inclusive contained biographies of the Founders and of the original trustees. As these pioneers passed on, one by one, other men and women took their places, assuming responsibilities and giving freely of their time, without thought of remuneration or reward of any kind. It is fitting now that we should recall the names of these men and women and extend to them the same recognition that we have accorded to their predecessors.

The first of this group was John H. Boalt, who became identified with the Lick Board in 1886 and continued until shortly before the construction of the school buildings began, in 1894. During this interval the only business which the Board could transact pertained to litigation for the purpose of determining the amount of money the school was entitled to receive from Mr. Lick's estate. Mr. Boalt being the only practicing lawyer on the Board, his share of the work and responsibility must have been very great. The school was fortunate to have had in this emergency a man of his high standing in the legal profession. Distinction has been conferred on him by giving his name to the building in which the law department is housed on the campus of the University of California, but the service that he rendered to us has passed almost unnoticed. Whenever his name was mentioned, as it was very frequently during his lifetime and for a number of years afterwards, anything said regarding his ability as a lawyer seemed invariably to invoke words of praise for his integrity as a man and for the fine qualities of his personality.

Next to Judge Boalt, in the order of succession, came Rev. Horatio Stebbins, a man of large proportions physically as well as intellectually. He came to California as the successor of the famous Thomas Starr King, pastor of the first Unitarian church of this city, whose ability as a public speaker and untiring labors were largely instrumental in holding California to the Union cause during the Civil War. When Starr King's patriotic efforts overcame his strength and brought him to an untimely end, Dr. Stebbins, with a similar gift of eloquence and greater physical endurance, promptly became a conspicuous figure in the community. He served on the Lick Board from 1887 to 1900, and at the same time was a member of the Board of Regents of the University of California. When advancing age made it necessary for him to retire from the ministry, he surrendered his various offices here and returned to New England, the land of his forefathers.

In July 1894, when construction of the buildings of the Lick School began, James Spiers, President of the Fulton Iron Works, became a member of the Board, succeeding Judge Boalt. On his shoulders fell the responsibility of seeing that I made no mistakes in choosing the right equipment for the shops and in following approved methods of teaching the trades given in them. A more competent counsellor for that purpose could not have been found or imagined. The Fulton Iron Works was a large and comprehensive concern, and Mr. Spiers knew every detail of every shop in it. He had learned his trade in Scotland, where "intelligent mechanical skill" in the metal trades and industries was bred into men of those days with a thoroughness unsurpassed anywhere. I was then a young man of twenty-seven, called upon to erect buildings, purchase equipment, formulate a curriculum, and select a teaching staff, for the establishment of a school differing in many ways from any school that ever was before. I had previously held the principalship of the Cogswell Polytechnic College, but there I took charge of an institution already established and with which I was familiar, having been a teacher there for four years under capable and experienced heads; here it was a job from the ground up, with a fourth dimension. But, here also was Mr. Spiers with his store of mechanical knowledge, his wealth of business experience, and his sound judgment. He was never too busy to see me, never failed to help me out of my difficulties, and never let me leave without some word of encouragement.

To have enjoyed the confidence of five men such as those who constituted the Lick Board when the school began its work—John O. Earl, the elderly, kind-hearted man who wept when he saw a crippled boy being carried from one room to another by his classmates; Horace Davis, scholar, successful man of affairs, and empire-builder; Horatio Stebbins, intellectual leader of men; Andrew S. Hallidie, man of unswerving integrity and purpose; James Spiers, benevolent and as human as Robert Burns, the poet whom he loved to quote—and to have sat with them during their deliberations, were privileges to be prized and an inspiration for which I have ever been profoundly thankful.

DEDICATION

Welcome to Mr. Rich

The Tiger Staff, on behalf of the students of Lick Wilmerding, welcomes Mr. Edwin Rich to the position of director of the school.

Since September of 1952 he has introduced many new functions and activities into the school, among which are a sports schedule, a Glee Club, and a Parent Council. The students have found him an understanding and friendly person, as well as an excellent director.

In the past year the school has made great progress, and we look forward to even greater achievement under his capable leadership.

FROM THE YEARBOOK OF 1953

It is most appropriate that this seventy-fifth anniversary issue is dedicated to a man who has devoted the majority of his lifetime to the education of young men. Edwin M. Rich's relationship with Lick-Wilmerding High School dates back to his graduation from Lick-Wilmerding in 1923. After completing the course of studies for education majors at the University of California at Berkeley in 1927 and serving as the Director of the boys' division of the Downtown Los Angeles Young Men's Christian Association, Mr. Rich commenced his career in education in 1930 by accepting an offer to teach at the Damon School in San Francisco. Because of the familiar difficulties caused by insufficient funds combined with a small student body, the Damon School was compelled to merge with the Tamalpais School. The Tamalpais Junior School began operating in 1938 with approximately forty students entered from kindergarten through the eighth gade. But shortly thereafter the Tamalpais School was sold. With Mr. Rich as the Headmaster, the Town School for Boys was founded in 1939 and was soon moved to its present location on Jackson Street in San Francisco.

Because Lick-Wilmerding was considering the termination of its operation, Mr. Rich was consulted for his opinion. This resulted in his becoming the Director of Lick-Wilmerding in 1951 in addition to his duties of Headmaster at Town. Then, in 1957, he left his post at Town School to devote his full attention to Lick-Wilmerding. Under his leadership, Lick-Wilmerding has changed in both size and purpose. When Lick-Wilmerding moved to its present site in 1956, it offered to 171 students a course in vocational training. Today, the school's primary function is that of an institution to provide an excellent academic education to prepare its 268 students for college matriculation. Students have been afforded more opportunities for a stronger voice in the administration of the school, and teachers have had greater freedoms in the formulation of their course curriculums. These are the primary fundamentals by which Mr. Rich directed Lick-Wilmerding so that it could attain the progressive, liberal arts education upon which it prides itself. The retirement of Mr. Rich in March of 1969 has completed the career of one of the most influential individuals in the history of Lick-Wilmerding. This dedication is a token of all your students' appreciation for the immense interest and unselfish effort you, Mr. Rich, have given to Lick-Wilmerding High School.

DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Intelligent is the man who never says there is too much freedom.

Intelligent is the man who never advocates escape from the burdens of freedom.

Intelligent is the man who never stands still in his quest for greater insight into the meaning of freedom.

Intelligent is the man who never affirms one principle of freedom which is true to the neglect of other principles of freedom equally true.

Intelligent is the man who never promotes a separation between the way towards freedom and the goal of freedom.

Intelligent is the man who experimentally knows that his mind is restless until it rests in ultimate freedom.

In so far as there is realizable validity in the above affirmations, it is graciously hoped that because of their association with our community the persons graduating from Lick-Wilmerding will somehow have attained the motivation towards becoming truly intelligent men. Such a motivation is a gift surpassing all other gifts. We thank you for helping to maintain that motivation in us. Most fortunate are the persons who have attained it before they are twenty years old. Pray that it be constantly nurtured until the moment of death.

Er kann dem Augenblick

Er allein darf
Den Guten lohnen,

Prog was the ravesville at the Northern Regional Conference of the California Association of Independent Schools, which was held at Lick on February 6. Last December the Lick-Wilmerding Amateur Radio Club was organized with the purpose of providing its members with the opportunity to gain the necessary experience to qualify for an amateur radio license. The club also supplies its members with a basic knowledge of communication electronics. The members, under the direction of their faculty supervisor, Mr. Jackson, assembled the components of a transmitter and a receiver. This valuable equipment was generously donated to the school by Mr. A. L. Papworth, the father of a prospective student who was accidentally drowned the summer before he was to have enrolled at Lick. The official call letters of the Radio Club, which is located in a room above the electric shop, are WA6JSW.

SPORTS

Standing: Steve Roloff, Bill Harrington, Gerard Taylor, Colin Perry, Brian Juster, Nick Stern, Mark Dickinson, Ian Smith, Joe O'Flanagan, Bob McCullough, Peter Carlson, Coach Howard Yank. Kneeling: Martin Gray, Steve Jones, Rawle Michelson, Frank Connelly, Peter Rockrise. Sitting: Scott McNeil, Steve Farac, Mark Vande Pol, Steve Henry, Chris Amos.

Filling the position of the major fall sport created by the absence of football, soccer had a quite successful season. Inspired by the rousing audibles of Peter Rockrise, the gentle yet crafty movements of Nick Stern, the graceful companionship of Steve Jones and Bob McCullough, the Bengals rose to victory on three occasions against St. Ignatius, Woodrow Wilson, and Serramonte. Other valuable Tiger booters included Colin Perry and Steve Farac playing both wings, Rawle "Tenderfoot" Michelson at left inside, Scott McNeil at center forward, Steve Roloff playing center half, and the true standout, goalie Mark Vande Pol. Frank Connelly, always on the ball, provided spiritual fortification.

Rookie coach Howard Yank, described merely as "different" by one of his more articulate understudies, led the team to a season worthy of recognition. Among the highlights of the season were the 5-0 victory over Burkes, despite numerous penalties of illegal use of the hands, the notorious three goals of Steve Roloff, and Athletic Director Don Taylor's inebriated appearance at the Soccer Banquet. Next year we anticipate a strong showing as the majority of the players expect to return.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

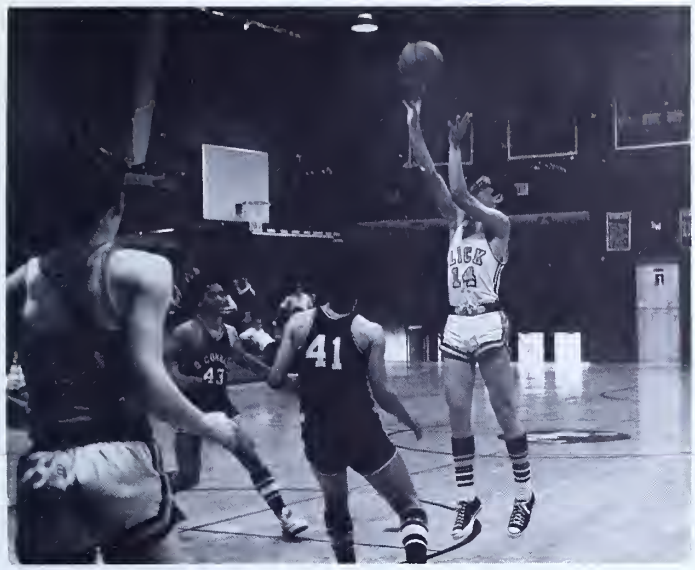
Standing: Manager Chris Connelly, Alan Gregerman, Fred Maggiora, Fred Culp, Louis Bon, Ed Tredinnick, John Vonk, Steve Wahler, Bruce Fong, Randy Pinetti, Lindsey Robbins, John Wallace, Richard Clark, Coach Don Taylor.

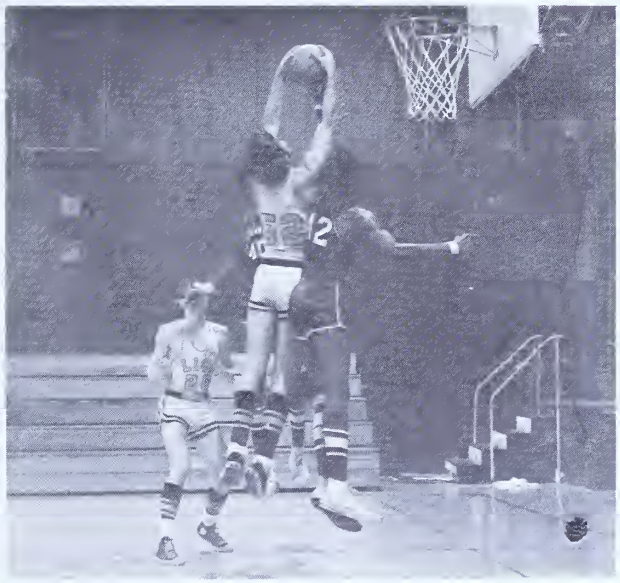
The varsity basketball team, under new coach Don Taylor, started slowly but finished strong to capture a second place tie with Emery. As the season progressed, the team matured as a unit, finishing with an 11-3 BCL record and a 13-12 mark overall.

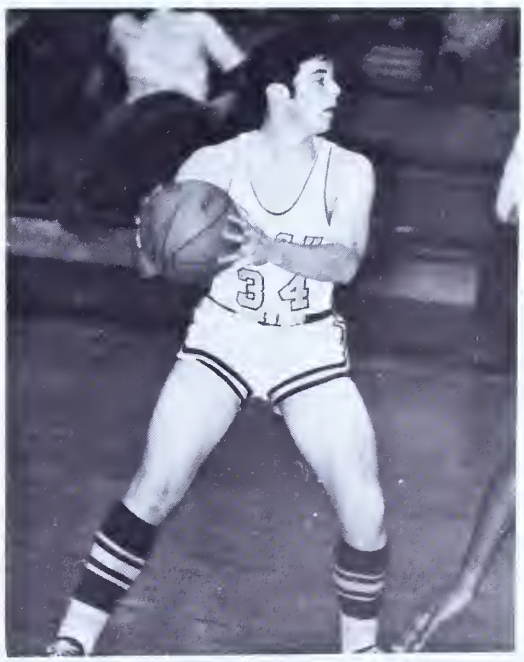
The key man for the Tigers all season was their center, 6-4 John Vonk, who averaged 20 rebounds a game and added a 12-point per game scoring average. Another key performer was Steve Wahler, who was noted for his defensive prowess and ability to drive to the hoop. Two of the players who showed the most improvement were junior starters Ed Tredinnick and Bruce Fong. Tredinnick displayed a good middle-distance shooting touch and Fong, who moved into the starting line-up with the departure of Lindsey Robbins, gave the Tigers a potent offensive punch with his outside shooting. Rounding out the starting five was John Wallace, the Tigers' aggressive team captain. Comprising the rest of the team were seniors Richard Clarke and Fred Culp and juniors Louis Bon, Alan Gregerman, Fred Maggiora, and Randy Pinetti.

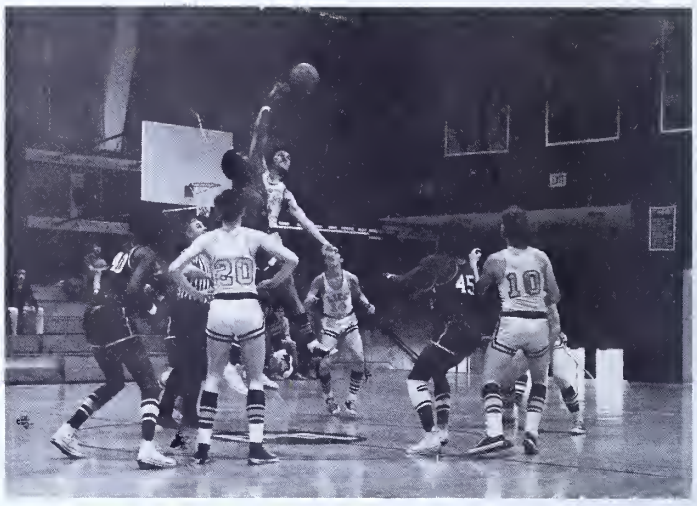
The league season got off on a rather negative note with losses to O'Connell and Emery. However, the team rebounded with victories over Menlo twice and Emery once. The only disappointment was a heart-stopping loss to O'Connell, the league champ, in a game the Tigers should have won. The Menlo contest down at the Acorns' gym was a typical example of the team's determination and refusal to give up. Down by as much as 10 points in the first half, the Tigers fought back for a dramatic, hard-earned 49-45 overtime triumph. The climax to the season was Lick's 55-53 win over Emery in the finale to clinch the second place tie with the Spartans. And as it was all season, the key figure was Vonk, who outrebounded the three big men from Emery and scored the winning basket on a lay-up with 23 seconds remaining.

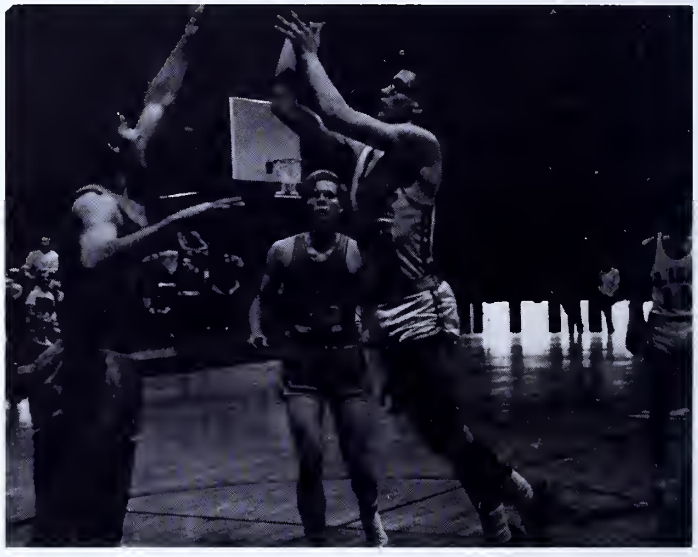
The squad may not have been champions but there was little doubt that the team was a determined, fighting unit and an exciting squad to watch.

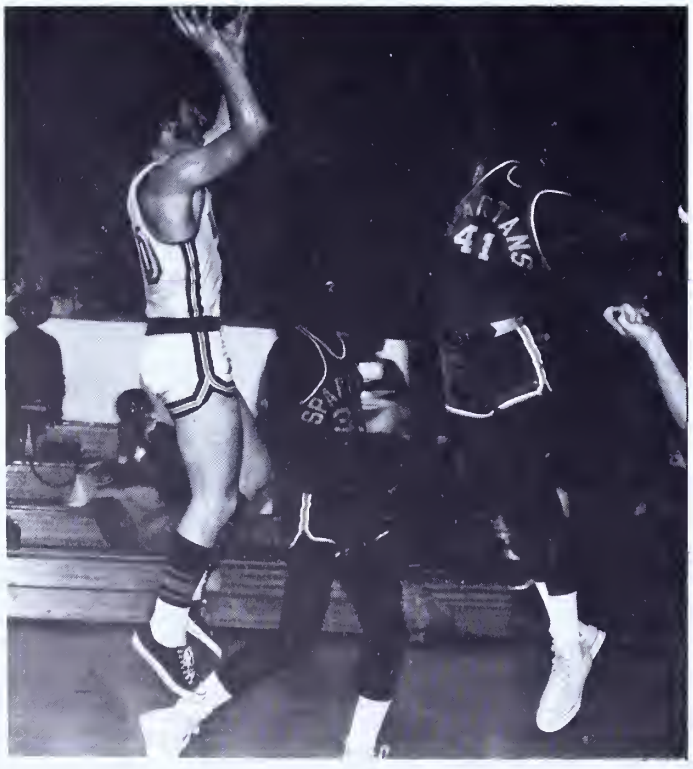












JV BASKETBALL

This was a rebuilding year for JV basketball at Lick, as all the players from last year's squad had either graduated or moved up to the varsity. Thus inexperience was a problem for the squad, made up mostly of players who were playing competitively for the first time. However, the Tigercubs, under the tutelage of Coach Darrel Smith, despite a 5-9 league mark and a 6-14 record overall, showed noticeable improvement toward the end of the season. The team's most impressive performance was a 15-point victory over the SRMA Cadets. The starting five, which did better as they became more familiar with each other, was made up of freshman Brian King, sophomores Stephen Clarke and Jon Welles, junior Ed Anderson, and senior Mike Bradshaw. Rounding out the rest of the squad were freshmen Tony Belway and Allan Reiss, sophomore Mike Stirnus, and junior Alan Menzies. With the improvement made toward the end of the season, hopes are higher regarding the basketball fortunes of Lick teams for the next few years.

SWIMMING

The Lick-Wilmerding swim team, coached by Rolf Penn, is going to make a very strong showing in the 1970 season, as it has in previous years.

The varsity squad appears ready to take the Bay Counties' League championship with an excellent group of swimmers, led by their captain, and returning senior, Max Kniesche. The other returning seniors, Ben Shore, Bruce Tronoff, Doug Goldman, and Chris Doughty, are all going to be prime competitors in their last swimming season at Lick. Newcomer Ralph Ames has already broken two records this season and is having difficulty finding any competition. Charles Ashford also returns this season to complete the varsity squad.

The junior varsity squad also is a threatening contender for the BCL title in its division. Their chances of making it two championships in a row are very good. The squad is led by JV captain Bruce Tronoff and is comprised of two experienced members, Craig Tronoff and Dave Shore, as well as the promising newcomers, Michael Dab, Jeff Freedman, John Schumpert, Peter Vinci, Louis Friedman, and Paul Reinhardt.

TENNIS

Standing: Coach Don Taylor, Duke Mahl, Brian King, Brian McKee, Tony Hayes, Charley Mills, Dan Drory. Kneeling: Nick Lerke, Brian Juster, Nick Bashkiroff, David Commanday, Dave Tahir, Dennis Bagnani, Max Kniesche.

This year's tennis team looks like it will be a strong contender for the BCL championship. The singles players should be key to the league title. Last year's league champion singles player Dave Tahir, is back again to play first singles for Lick. Moving up to singles from doubles competition will be Charley Mills, who will probably play second singles. Newcomer Duke Mahl appears to have the best opportunity to compete in the third singles spot. The doubles teams do not look as strong, but do have potential to develop. However, at this point, a wide open battle for the four spots on the two doubles teams seems likely. Leading contenders for the open spots are Brian McKee, Tony Hayes, David Commanday, Alan Menzies, Brian King, and Brian Juster.

If the singles players come through and the doubles competitors produce some good efforts, the team will have an excellent chance to repeat as league champ this season.

BASEBALL

Sitting: Tom Ross, Allan Reiss, Cliff Hirsch, Ben Friedman, John Gleim. Standing: Walter Hart, Fred Maggiora, Ed Tredinnick, Norm Althausen, Richard Gonerko, Eric Bogel, Doug Wainwright, Mike Bradshaw, John Wallace, Coach Darrel Smith.

This year's baseball team promises to be one of many surpises. Due to the loss of one-half of last year's starting rotation, Eric Bogel will now be faced with the burden of pitching most of the Tigers' games. Bogel will get support from returning all-leaguer John Wallace and other returning veterans Norm Althausen, Doug Wainwright, and John Caruso. The nucleus for a good Tiger team is there, unfortunately that is all that is there.

There are some bright rookie prospects in Tom Ross, Ed Tredinnick, and Fred Maggiora, but these players still have to prove themselves in what looks to be a tough Bay Counties' League. The pilot of the team will be Darrel Smith, who this year will be trying to improve on last year's fourth place finish, which will be quite a task, to be sure.

Not assuming a totally pessimistic attitude, the Tigers have a good chance to place high this year. If they are to finish high they must mature quickly as a team and try to avoid costly mental errors that constantly plague a young team. With this in mind, we hope the team can do well, avoid serious injuries, and set a pace that the rest of the league won't be able to keep up with.

TRACK

Trying to improve on the fourth-place finish of last year's track team will be a difficult task for this year's squad. However, with two returning lettermen, two veterans, and at least ten new participants, the Lick team may be able to do it.

John Vonk, who was the best shot-putter in the league last year, and Tom Blumberg, who made a strong showing in the 100-yard dash, head the squad. Shot-putter Chris Connelly and discus man Pete Schumacher are the other returning performers. New faces will try to fill in the gaps left by last year's graduates.

Because of the relatively small number of track participants, Lick has little chance for a first-place finish. But with a little luck and a lot of hard work, a second-place finish is easily within range for the Tigers.

KYA GAME

On November 13, 1969, "The Great Rematch" between the KYA Oneders and the Lick-Wilmerding faculty basketball team took place before a near-capacity crowd in Bothin Hall. The Oneders gained an early lead and then withstood a late comeback surge by the faculty to post a 130-119 win. The Lick faculty, coached by Richard Clarke, were led by ex-athletic director Jim Brovelli, who popped in 49 points in an incredible performance. Other high scorers for the faculty were Don Taylor and Mark Citret, who added 36 and 28 points, respectively. Other participants for the faculty were Howard Yank, Ken High, Bill Stanisich. James Thomas, and Pete Rezendes. Jack Coffey served as the faculty's frustrated little waterboy and Janet Schwarz led the cheerleading corps. The benefit contest was a great success from a financial point also, as it raised over $400 for the school.

THE FIRST EDITION.

In publishing this little paper it has been our aim to make it a factor in student affairs that will knit the student body into a more compact unit. We have also tried to make of it a paper that would show the friends of the school, and the parents of the pupils, just what we are doing in all lines of school work.

We believe that it will prove to be a great benefit to the school along both these lines, and we hope that it will live to work for the interest of the school in the many terms to come.

Our readers will, doubtless, see in this, our first issue, many faults and mistakes. We hope that these faults will prove to be only those of inexperience and those due to the rush and hurry of getting out our first paper in a limited amount of time.

If those who see these faults will criticise them in a spirit of charity, and not after the manner of "knockers," it will prove a benefit to the paper, and will help to make each succeeding issue better than its predecessors.

MANUSCRIPTS.

The manuscripts handed in for the first issue have been of every kind—good, bad and indifferent. Some have been quite noticeable for their neatness and legibility, while others were conspicuous because of the opposite characteristics. A few have been signed with the author's name, others have been signed with a nickname only, and the rest, which constituted the greater part, have been devoid of any signature whatever. We hope that the standard of the manuscripts handed in for future issues will prove to be noticeably higher. If contributors would only

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

At Lick-Wilmerding, we learn to analyze, create, and construct. With these tools, we are able to challenge the problems which will confront us throughout our lives. Furthermore, it is hoped that we can use these implements to improve our world community.

This same pattern was utilized in the making of this yearbook. We were challenged to create an imaginative annual which would appeal to the entire student body. As in all our endeavors, it is hoped that we have come closer than any previous attempts to attaining this goal.

I would like to thank all of my staff for their unfailing efforts, especially when they were most needed. In particular, I want to express my gratitude to Max Kniescher and Nick Stern, both of whom had major roles in this book's creation. Above all, I would like to give a special thanks to Mr. Sobel, our photographer, who, more than any other person, saved our yearbook.

Respectfully,

Doug Goldman
